Greeting

FOR the nineteenth time the Officers and Members of the Relief Association of the Salem Fire Department extend their thanks to the public for its generous aid in making this anniversary of the Association a success. For the first time in our history we have undertaken the publication of a Souvenir Programme and we are gratified with the result.

We have told many times of the fund which the proceeds of this affair is destined to increase. This fund is used solely to aid the sick and disabled members, who are liable at any time to injuries in the discharge of their duties.

It is the earnest desire of the Officers of the Association that interest should be taken towards helping and increasing the Fund each year, and the manner in which our "Friends, the Advertisers," have generously appreciated this book and its worth is shown by the large amount of advertisements given us, and is very pleasing to the Association.

We wish to call the attention of our many friends and citizens generally to the advertisers in this book.

They comprise the leading Merchants and Stores in their line of business, and we take great pleasure in recommending them and would like our patrons to favor them with a call.

Thanking our Friends and Advertisers for their kindness and goodwill, we are,

Yours Respectfully,

SALEM FIREMEN'S RELIEF ASSOCIATION.

JOSEPH C. FOSTER, PRESIDENT.

JOHN WILSON, SECRETARY.

GENTLEMEN:

Your fire alarm system did good work Sunday morning about 2 o'clock.

The bell in my house rang and awoke me from a sound sleep, I hurried to the factory, and found a lively fire in progress on the upper floor, I succeeded in nearly extinguishing it before the department got to work.

The loss is trifling, and we are satisfied of the value of your system as a protection against fire.

All factories should have it.

Gratefully yours,

Our possession of rich mines in Idaho is undisputed. It is also undisputed that a good mine, properly worked, is the best paying property in the world. It is also known that Idaho and Montana are beating the world's record for large ore bodies. Having good mines, in a rich mining section, the next question of interest concerns

THE COMPANY ITSELF

We believe that we have eliminated every feature which has been objectionable in mining companies. Our stock is all in the Treasury. No stock is given to anyone. Our actual capital, upon which dividends must be paid, therefore will be the number of shares sold. When we have money enough to equip our properties, we shall sell no more stock. Battery Coppers and Manufacturers' Agents for Blue Vitrol. Quality tells. Poor stock is never cheap at any price

Between the excess of the first cost and the waste account there is a wide margin. Quality considered the BEATTIE ZINCS are sold low. But occasionally some one cuts our prices and succeeds in supplying some of our customers with a sample lot. A practical test usually develops the fact that most of them are dear at any price when compared with the Beattie Zincs. As no scale forms on them they can be used up much closer, and a less number of cells are required to produce a given current than with other zincs.

A thorough test will satisfy consumers not familiar with them that the BEATTIE ZINCS are the cheapest as well as the best in the market.

ANNUAL CONCERT AND BALL Firemen's Relief Association

FRIDAY EVENING, FEBRUARY 19, 1897

A Short History of the Salem Fire Department

in this city was purchased in 1795. It was named the Union, and was built by them to the William Penn, of Philadelphia, July, 1866. It had solid block wheels and no suction, and had to be filled with buckets. This was the oldest engine in the United States.

The following is the list of engines and location at this date: Union, stationed in Washington street. Joseph Henfield, Captain. Salem, on the Common, near the Town pump. Richard Manning, Captain. Reliance (imp. from Philadelphia), near head of Long Wharf. Joshua Phippen, Captain. Friend, near Buffum's Corner. Caleb Buffum, Captain. Essex, a little north of the Court House. One of the new engines from London. John Hill, Captain. Federal, near the church, a new one from London. Samuel Sweetser, Captain. Alert, Washington street, near store of John Daland. Henry Rust, Captain. Exchange, Essex street, near house of Mrs. Cabot. Nathaniel Knight, Captain.

Benjamin Goodhue, a member of Congress, purchased one in Philadelphia for Salem. Timothy Pickering superintended its erection. The manufacturer of it was Samuel Briggs, a Quaker. It was so injured on its passage that it would not work. The maker sent an agent to see it repaired.

Names and locations in this town were: The Union, of small size, north of Court House. Salem, on the Common. Reliance, made in Philadelphia, near the head of Long Wharf. Friend, near Buffum's Corner. Essex, north of Court House. Federal, near the Episcopal Church. Exchange, new, in Essex street, near Mrs. Rebecca Cabot's. The last four were imported from London. Alert, old, in Washington street, near Mr. John Daland's store.

It was ordered that if an engine did not appear at a fire, its company should be fined $2.

In September, the Franklin H. & L. Co. was organized at Town Hall. John Kinsman was its first captain. This company is in existence to-day, and the only one that has continued its organization, owing to the different reorganization of the Department.

An engine to be made for No. 9 company and located in Bridge street. Built in South Salem by Increase S. Hill.

ENGINEERS, 1836.
William Sutton, David Pulsifer, Jr., Nathaniel Weston, William Peel, Thomas Farless, Samuel W. Stickney, Benjamin P. Chamberlain.

FIRE DEPARTMENT, 1836.

1. Reliance, Essex street, near East Church. 2. Rapid, Bath street. 3. Federal, South Salem. 4. Lafayette, Market Wharf. 5. Essex, Court street. 6. Pennsylvania, Beckford street. 7. Adams, Boston street. 8. Active, North Salem. 9. Exchange, Bridge street. 1. Sail Carriage, Essex street, near East Church. 2. Sail Carriage, Court street, near hay scales. 3. Sail Carriage, Boston street. Engine 1 is a receiving engine. Engines 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8 and 9 take their stations at the fountains.

1843.
In 1843 there were twenty public cisterns with two pumps, and eight with one pump; nine operative engines, hose company, hook and ladder company, and three sail companies.

The expenses of the fire department for a year to the spring of 1843 were $1,481.38.

1797, Federal. 1845, Relief.
At the great fire in December, 1844, the old Federal engine No. 3 of South Salem was found to be useless.

A new engine was ordered at Hunneman's, Roxbury, and was in the paint shop partly painted when the fire took place at the Franklin building, January 29, 1845.

Chief Engineer Sutton sent to the maker to send it down as it was. It came the morning after the fire; some Boston firemen came with it as it was said that there was a large fire in Salem. The engine was taken down to the ruins and worked by the Boston men, who were afterward entertained by the Chief at the Mansion House.

The engine had no name on it and went without till the next fall when the company voted to have it named the Relief.
